		Climate is cooling, not warming. CO2 represents 0.04% of the atmosphere. Ice caps have grown back to almost normal levels, and the planet is green due to the increased concentration of CO2 from 200 to 400 ppl. Storms are less frequent and severe than in the past. So, there is no existential threat to humanity due to the climate itself. But,

The Amazon during the day on average +/-35C and in the night cool down probably with only 5C. The different is because the Amazon atmosphere contain a lot of water vapor like 4% is 40,000	An explanation on why CO2 is not responsible for global warming and therefore showing that the CO2 which is emmitted by us has no effect on the climate. While it is true that a planet with an atmosphere has a warmer surface than a small object in the same orbit (let us

		Carbon dioxide in Earth's atmosphere has no effect on surface temperatures, what ever the amount. The only effect is the surface pressure, whatever the gas. the surface temperature of Venus is the evidence.
		This planet has a surface pressure about 95bar, thus 95 x that on Earth. This, together with the fact that Venus is closer to the Sun, fully explains its surface temperature of 740 K (467 °C, 872 °F).

			herbivores eat, for a lot of biological processes. Why are we so panicked about CO2 when we desperately need to encourage the regeneration of forests and savanna lands, because the oxygen the plants produce from the CO2 is what animals, of all kinds need to breath to live. 83	QlvRDoe5Dik	2023-11-14T01-04-552	This is the history I lived through. Through the 1970s and 1980s global warming was increasing at about 2/10°C per decade. In 1991 global warming was reported at 1.1°C. In late 1994 global warming was reported at 1.0°C Cypically	34 The user claims that wate vaporization is the main reason for the greenhouse effect and not CO2. 			rounded to 1.1°C. Global warming has been at about 1°C for over thirty years with no correlation with rising levels of CO2 in the atmosphere. This is observable by anybody.
			The United Nation's IPCC science report doesn't actually flat out state greenhouse gases are causing global warming and in the back of a nearly 200 page science report states it took its greenhouse gas samples at 20,000 meters altitude and only that one altitude! If this were real science it would be expected the IPCC would have sampled the entire air column. It would also be expected the IPCC science report would give the CO2e of water vapor which is 18, which it doesn't, but does for many other greenhouse gases.
			That 20,000 meter altitude sampling statement is a legal back stop from fraud prosecution because it can be legally argued the IPCC has been transparent with its data despite whatever marketing terms may have been advertised and that a well educated high school student would know that at 20,000 meters altitude the IPCC is not discussed an expensive processor of the properties of the properties of the properties associated and that a well durated high school student would know that at 20,000 meters altitude the IPCC is not discussed an expensive properties and the properties of the

This is the same type of marketing frequently encountered with a beverage labeled at 781 Natural Fruit Flavors' and then when reading this ingredients it states the truth "contains no act
			It is high school taught science that earth's greenhouse effect is the model of a system always in saturation from the strong greenhouse gas water vapor. A system in saturation can not be made to have further effect by increasing its active elements. Earth's greenhouse effect adds 10° f (5.55°C) to earth's average temperature and takes place within 20 meters of the surface. After 20 meters from the radiating surface all the greenhouse radiant energy has been absorbed by greenhouse gases. Its further heat transfer is by convection i.e. gas molecules bumping into each other. At 1% average tropospheric water vapor over 99% of earth's greenhouse effect is due to water vapor.
			The Arctic is currently warming with the strongest theory being warmer Atlantic Ocean waters are migrating deeper and more frequently into the Arctic Ocean warming it and the region. This is a redistribution of earth's heat plus with less ice and snow cover there is more solar heat pain into the surface.
